In the Dales

Grassington

YORKSHIRE DALES
National Park

Grassington National Park Visitor Centre is a great starting point for anyone wanting to make the most of their visit. There are interesting displays about the area, guidebooks and leaflets, friendly staff to help you enjoy the National Park in just the way you want, and plenty to do in the local area when you call in.

Walks

- Start at Grassington National Park car park.
- Walk down Sedbergh Lane to Linton Falls – you can choose to go left on to Hebden or right towards Grass Wood. There are lots of different points of interest to stop at along the way.
- For a map of the Grassington Riverside Circular Walk or Grassington to Hebden walk, visit www.yorkshiredales.org.uk/short-walks-from-car-parks or download our walking app www.yorkshiredales.org.uk/yorkshiredales-walkingapps
- Start at Linton Falls car park. Walk beyond the church to find the stepping stones. Who can make the tallest tower out of rocks on the pebbled beach?
- Listen to the water rushing through at Linton Falls. Did you know it used to power a cotton mill? Take a picnic, sit on the grass and watch the water flowing.
- Take a walk along the river from Grassington to Grass Wood.
- Explore ancient woodland, listen to the birds, identify trees, find the Iron Age fort, see the bluebells in Spring and the fungi in Autumn.
- Feel the breeze on your face and in the trees.

Places to visit near Grassington

Drive or walk up the hill to Yarnbury. Enjoy amazing views of the Dales, wide open spaces, accessible tracks, and the lead mining trail.

Get off the bus in Threshfield and walk to Grassington, or go and experience the wide, open expanse of Threshfield Moor and the heather blooming in late summer.

Stay on the bus all the way to Buckden or jump off at Kettlewell.

Shops and cafés

Walk into Grassington and get an ice cream or a cup of tea. There's a range of cafés and tearooms to choose from, or you can grab a picnic to take with you on a walk.
