Yorkshire Dales National Park Local Development Scheme 2021 – 2024

The Local Development Scheme (LDS) describes the planning policy framework in the National Park and sets out a programme for its review.

Local planning policy framework

Local Plans set out land use strategy for up to 20 years into the future. They are also used to guide day to day decisions on planning applications and appeals. They set out when, where and how development should take place. This includes identifying requirements such as new homes and jobs and setting out policies that enable sufficient land to be released to meet those needs. Local plans also contain policies to protect sensitive areas from harmful development and set out the standards that new development are expected to meet.

The Yorkshire Dales National Park Authority adopted its last Local Plan in 2016. In August that year the government extended the boundary bringing in additional areas of Cumbria and a small part of Lancashire. As a consequence, the Authority inherited a number of older local plans prepared by the district and county councils. It means that the National Park currently has a confusing range of policies spread over eleven documents, prepared at different times by different bodies (Appendix 1).

In addition to the local plans, the Authority has also inherited a number of supplementary planning documents that provide further detail on certain aspects of policy (Appendix 2).

Local Plan review

In December 2018 the National Park Authority took a decision to prepare a single Local Plan for the whole of the Yorkshire Dales National Park (Appendix 3). A harmonized Plan will conform with the latest National Planning Policy and enable a single set of strategies and policies to guide new development between 2023 and 2040. It will share the same long term vision and ambitions as the National Park Management Plan:

<https://www.yorkshiredales.org.uk/about/national-park-management-plan/>

The Local Plan will include a spatial strategy that describes where new development will be located, an indicative housing delivery figure and definitions of sustainability and development quality that are appropriate to the context of the National Park.

Policy will cover the following topics:

- community – the allocation of land for house building and the release of unallocated ‘windfall’ sites. These will attempt to address the range of house types and tenures needed including affordability housing. The community section will also contain policies about new and existing infrastructure and the use of land for waste management.

- business - policies about farm and estate development, employment land, commercial reuses of existing buildings, visitor accommodation and visitor orientated facilities, railway corridors and the safeguarding of existing business sites.
- cultural heritage & landscape - policies to conserve designated and undesignated heritage assets such as listed buildings, conservation areas and archaeological sites. This section will also cover mineral working and landscape-scale issues such as the protection of open upland.
- wildlife - policies that protect species and habitats including ecological networks, as well as policies that try to enhance biodiversity in new development.

The aim behind each policy will be explained in the Plan together with a justification for it.

The plan will be supported by maps identifying areas of development opportunity and areas of constraint. Given the size of the National Park there will be too many to print so the maps will be made available on the Authority's local plan webpages.

Appendices to the plan will contain details about the allocated sites, the criteria around affordable housing and other details matters referred to in the policies.

There are a number of stages in the production of the Plan (see also timetable in Appendix 4)

1. Evidence gathering (2019 – 2023) – The plan will be based on information about the area, including projected population change, household formation, employment trends, landscape character, flood risk, infrastructure capacity and site viability and availability. Studies will be commissioned throughout the process, to gather this information.
2. Issues and options (January 2020 – September 2021) Consultation No.1 – Setting the agenda (Winter 2020) Consultation No.2 – Exploring out options: Ambitions (August 2020), Consultation No.3 – Exploring our options: Building new homes (January 2021) Consultation No.4 – Exploring our options: Local occupancy and barns (August 2021).
3. Preferred Options consultation (April - May 2022) a set of housing site options together with the direction of travel for policy.
4. Publication (March-April 2023) – The Authority's proposed plan. Consultation bodies and the public are invited to make formal representations. At this stage the Authority can only make minor additional changes, unless it decides to go back a stage. Formal objections to the publication plan will be referred to the local plan examination.

5. Submission (August 2023) - the Plan, together with all its supporting evidence, formal representations and Authority amendments, are submitted to the Planning Inspectorate for examination.
6. Examination (January - June 2024) – A Government inspector is appointed to examine the Plan and decide whether it is legally compliant and would provide a sound strategy. If successful the Authority will adopt the Plan and give it full weight in development decision making.
7. Implementation and Monitoring (from 2023) – National policy allows planning authorities to use their emerging plans for decision making. Parts of the new Local Plan that have attracted few objections can guide planning decisions from the publication stage onwards. Once the Plan is formally adopted all the policies will carry legal weight and become the main determinant in decision making. Annual monitoring reports each autumn will review progress against the Plan’s objectives.

Duty to Cooperate

The National Park Authority is in regular dialogue with its neighbours. Officers co-operate on cross boundary planning matters such as apportionment of housing demand, the economy, neighbourhood planning, climate change, biodiversity, minerals and flood risk. Members of adjoining planning authorities sit on the National Park Committee where they are able to scrutinise the production and delivery of local plan policy.

The Authority works in partnership with district councils, county councils and many other organisations and bodies on a wide variety of projects set out in the National Park Management Plan. The Authority also works jointly to collect and share data.

In conformity with national planning policy, the Authority will negotiate statements of common ground with neighbouring authorities to outline areas of cross boundary policy and agreement.

Review of supplementary planning documents

The National Park Authority adopted its last Design Guide in 2017. This may be reviewed in the context of the extended National Park to provide more detailed guidance for developers across the whole local plan area. The need for other supplementary planning documents will be considered as the Local Plan progresses.

Neighbourhood development plans

Parish councils can produce their own development plans, known as neighbourhood plans. These have to conform to the strategic policies in the Local Plan and, if adopted, can provide guidance for planning applications at a more detailed level.

The following designated Neighbourhood areas have land inside the National Park: Asby, Clapham, Crosby Ravensworth, Gargrave, Tebay, Upper Eden and Clapham. Upper Eden and Gargrave Neighbourhood Plans have progressed to adoption.

Procedural documents

Several procedural documents will accompany the local plan:

Statement of Community Involvement (Appendix 5)

This sets out how the Authority will consult the public during the preparation of the new Plan and it's up to date arrangements for involving communities and other consultees, in the determination of planning applications.

Annual Monitoring Report

This is an annual review of development within the National Park. It contains an analysis of key data, mainly around housing permissions, housing completions and housing supply during the year. It is published on the Authority website each year.

Park wide Local Plan 2023 – 2040

Statement of Community Involvement in planning (Last reviewed December 2021)

This Statement of Community Involvement contains our policy for public consultation and engagement in the local planning system.

Our general principles

- We will be approachable, impartial, consistent, transparent, and proactive
- We encourage wider and diverse participation in our planning service
- We will seek views of interested and affected parties as early as possible
- We will choose the type of consultation by balancing effectiveness, cost and time constraints
- Our consultation documents will be clear and avoid jargon
- We will offer to maintain contact with people who respond to consultation.

Local Plan making

We prepare a Local Plan which contains development strategies, planning policies and supporting maps which indicate where certain policies apply. The purpose is to set out the type and quantity of development anticipated and desired over the plan period and to guide predictable, consistent and effective decision making, including planning applications. The Local Plan is backed by evidence and is in general conformity with prevailing national policy and Government guidance. The local plan is the opportunity to review local policy. When we make changes we will follow the legal regulations and consult stakeholders and the wider public.

Who we will consult

- We consult local authorities, infrastructure providers Government bodies and other organisations, as required by the regulations or as otherwise appropriate.
- We consult Parish Councils, Parish Meetings, local businesses, voluntary and other organisations.
- We consult the general public, including anyone who has expressed an interest in the Plan.

How we will consult

- We will contact organisations by email unless they request contact by letter.
- We will publicise consultations in the local press and through our website and social media, as appropriate.
- We will leave consultation documents on display at our offices in Bainbridge and Grassington and at Sedbergh library.
- Our planning consultation documents will always be available on our website
- If requested we will make reasonable numbers of printed documents available to Parish Councils, Parish Meetings and other community groups and organisations.

- Where appropriate we will organise or support additional consultation events, such as community based meetings, drop in sessions or specialist topic seminars, on line or in person.
- We will publish on our website comments received, or a summary of them after the end of consultation. We will report the comments to Members and take them into account in choosing preferred policy options and other content within the Local Plan.

When we will consult

- At the start of a new Plan we will invite discussion about the issues the Plan should address and the range of policy options available
- We will invite information and evidence throughout the plan preparation process
- We will publish preferred policy options and land availability information and invite comment and discussion on those
- After consultation we will issue a publication Plan so that the public may make formal representations to an independent local plan Inspector who will examine the soundness of the document.

Supplementary Planning Documents

As part of our planning policy duties we prepare Supplementary Planning Documents to give more detailed advice on matters such as design.

Supplementary Planning Documents are not subject to the same quasi-judicial process as Local Plans but are required to be informed through public consultation. We will therefore consult statutory bodies, Parish Councils and local interest groups on our Supplementary Planning Documents as part of their drafting process.

Neighbourhood Planning

We encourage Parish Councils to discuss with us their proposals for forming neighbourhood groups, preparing or updating neighbourhood plans or considering neighbourhood development orders.

We will provide advice and evidence to neighbourhood planning groups in support of their plan preparations.

We will encourage neighbourhood planning groups to consult with those who live, work or operate businesses in their area and can advise on the statutory consultees that needed to be involved.

We will work with neighbourhood planning groups to help them take account of the issues raised through consultation.

Major Planning Applications

For major development proposals¹ or locally sensitive schemes, developers will be encouraged to carry out consultations before submitting a planning application.

Prospective applicants should:

¹ Major development is defined as 10+ dwellings or 1000+ square metres floorspace, a quarry extension, a significant proposal that departs from adopted policy or which might potentially cause harm to national park purposes or have significant impact on a community.

- Engage with the Authority through its pre-application advice service
- Talk directly with statutory consultees to minimise technical objections
- Consult the Parish Council, Parish Meeting and neighbours that would be affected.
- Consider the advice of the Authority and the pre application consultation responses, and show how they have been taken into account as part of the design and access statement supporting the subsequent planning application.

Other planning applications

All potential applicants are advised to consult anyone likely to be affected by their proposal and consider their views before submitting an application. This may be as simple as talking over plans with a neighbour. The Authority operates a pre-application advice service and holds planning surgeries for National Park residents, in Bainbridge, Sedbergh, Orton and Grassington. Further details can be found on our website.

All submitted planning applications are advertised by site notice. Applications for major development will also be published in a local newspaper.

In addition, the Authority will:

- use its judgement to discern those neighbours most affected by a proposal and notify them by letter
- notify the Parish bodies and other statutory consultees about relevant planning applications
- Subject to data protection, make all new planning applications available to view on the Authority website or, by request, at its offices in Bainbridge and Grassington
- allow Consultees at least 21 days to submit comments
- where applications are referred to the Planning Committee, give applicants, objectors, and the relevant Parish body, a reasonable opportunity to speak at the Committee meeting.
- publish decisions on all planning applications on its website, and where appropriate, notify consultees who have made representations
